REGISTRATION

Registration

The university has a computer-assisted registration system. It is designed to provide individual academic advising between advisor and student. This gives students an opportunity to review their academic programs and select the specific sections of the courses desired for the next semester.

Priority Registration

Currently registered students will register for classes according to a priority registration schedule. The schedule will provide the time and date for registration. Students should schedule an appointment with their academic advisor prior to registering for courses. The priority registration schedule will be posted on the university's home webpage and on the Registrar's website (https://www.tamusa.edu/academics/office-of-the-registrar/).

New Student Registration

New First-Time admitted students will attend a New Student Orientation. The New Student Orientation serves as an opportunity for new undergraduate students to receive information on academic expectations, university policies, campus resources, and to register.

New Transfer admitted students are highly suggested to visit with an Academic Advisor and New Student Orientation must be completed prior to registering for classes. Specific registration dates will be posted on the university webpage (Academic Calendar) (https://www.tamusa.edu/academics/academic-calendar/).

Former/Returning Student Registration

Former/Returning students may need to reapply for admission or reactivate their records by reapplying through GradCAS application prior to the term of enrollment. As a general rule, students who have previously attended classes at the University, but who have not been enrolled for two consecutive long semesters,#need#to reapply for admission. Former/Returning students are required to meet with an Academic Advisor. New Student Orientation must also be completed prior to registering for classes. Specific registration dates will be posted on the university webpage (Academic Calendar).
