

ENGLISH, MASTER OF ARTS

Our M.A. Program in English offers students opportunities to deepen their knowledge of literary studies and writing studies, as well as hone their writing, research, and analytical skills. We offer seminars in literature, composition and rhetoric, creative writing, gender studies, critical ethnic studies, and visual studies. Our seminars are small and discussion-oriented, and students will work closely with professors on their graduate research project or thesis.

The English M.A. is a 36-hour Program. Students are required to take Introduction to Graduate Studies, Theory and Practice of Teaching Writing, Theory, and Methods, and, at the midpoint of their progress to degree, Professional Archives and the Public Humanities. Students must also choose between a Graduate Research Project (3 hours) or a Thesis (6 hours) for their capstone project. To be eligible to begin Thesis or GRP work, students must have completed 24 hours of graduate coursework. Students may choose the remainder of their coursework based on their interests. Since the topics courses frequently rotate, students can repeat these topics courses up to three times each.

Upon completion of the program, students will be prepared to continue their graduate studies in English studies or related disciplines, such as education and law. They will also have acquired professional and intellectual skills that will be applicable in a variety of careers, including public relations, professional writing, editing, and nonprofit work.
