

TITLE IX

Title IX

CAB439K | (210) 784-2061 (for Information, Complaints, and Support for Pregnant & Parenting Students)

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 is a federal civil rights law that prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex in educational programs and activities at schools that receive federal financial assistance. Title IX ensures program equity and forbids sexual harassment, sexual violence, sexual assault, domestic and dating violence, stalking, and discrimination based on sex or pregnancy and parental status.

Texas A&M University-San Antonio is committed to providing an educational environment and workplace free from discrimination and harassment based on sex. Any member of the campus community or public who witnesses, is subjected to, or is informed about incidents of sex discrimination, including sexual harassment and/or related retaliation, involving faculty, staff, or students should contact the university's Title IX Office. Texas A&M University-San Antonio promptly and thoroughly investigates complaints of sex discrimination, sexual harassment, and/or related retaliation in accordance with applicable federal and state laws, Texas A&M System Policy 08.01, Texas A&M System Regulation 08.01.01, and university rules and/or procedures.

For more information about Title IX, confidentiality, and/or reporting options, please contact the university's Title IX Office at 210-784-2061.
